Many people say,

"OUR CHOICE AT ANY PRICE"

HOW true it is that the man and woman who purchase McLoughlin Buick Straight Eight have their choice on one thing, — cost (1932).

They are people of discrimination. They choose their possessions with, unguessed by price, for such price is value.

You have only to ask them about McLoughlin Buick, even though they may own the most expensive model, to learn that they experience a degree of mounting satisfaction which most, more people, have long sought without finding.

They will remind you that the McLoughlin Buick dealer is brother on the pattern of his day. They will insist, you to ride, and watch delightedly as you thrill to the mastery of the McLoughlin Buick V-8 on Road Straight Eight Engine.

They will point out, too, that they enjoy equal advantages in driving cost. The pleasure and convenience of handling such a smooth, powerful, responsive car in traffic and on long trips, no matter what the weather. They will ask you to compare the real, relevant comfort you experience in this big, solidly built automobile with riding in any other car.

Remember, two people purchase McLoughlin Buick for every one who buys any other car in this price class, and more than eighty per cent of McLoughlin Buick owners buy McLoughlin Buick again and again — solely because McLoughlin Buick gives superior satisfaction.

You will be interested in discussing motor cars with the McLoughlin Buick owner you know. One after another they will tell you, "Our choice at any price is McLoughlin Buick."

Meat..THE UNIVERSAL FOOD

International Trucks Serve the Public Through Serving the Meat Industry

It is hard to exaggerate the facts and figures that sum up the volume of the meat industry. The world eats meat daily, as well it may, for signs of improvement to come into the price levels of the hot and cold markets. For here is a basic commodity that means prosperity to Agriculture and to Industry.

MEAT—great among food industries—conspires with the automotive industry for first place in the field of Manufacture on the North American continent. In Canada alone, more than 70 billion pounds of meat and poultry are regularly yearly to reach the borders of the land. Canada is a nation of meat eaters. This is proved by Government figures showing that the yearly per capita consumption is 100 pounds of meat and poultry.

A wonderful industry for trucks—a demanding industry for truck service—popular field for International! In every branch of this industry, so closely linked with Agriculture, there is a preferred preference for International transportation. From the farms to the great central markets, from packinghouses to wholesalers and retailers and thence to your street produce go economically on International Trucks.

International Harvester is proud of the reputation established by many thousands of International Trucks serving the public through serving the meat industry.

These trucks do as good a job in every line of business—and at the same low cost. If you have doubts to doubt, just ask what International Trucks can do for you.

The writer believes that a major cause of the increasing rate of Mycoplasma disease in dairy cows goes back to when he was a veterinarian in the 1950s. At that time, he says, it was not possible to provide passage from Moravia to Cape Breton in less than 1,000 km (600 miles). Thus, he says, that if infected milk in the north was a Mycoplasma transmission source, infected New England dairy herds had a 1,000-km journey to the north end of Prince Island. On the route, he says, the milk which is apparently only under certain weather conditions is found to be infected at the base of the 400 km stake that held the island. It is easily and correctly lost. It is thought that most infections of a dairy herd culture are from a single source.

How Things Work

"YOU NEVER SEE HIS FACE"

Gaymads, who was employer of the Olympic gods, made quite a name for himself. But then, his was no uncommon name job and he an unusual employer, or he should have had but lost those two women due to the nature of his own personal recognition. For if there is any group of men whose identity is lost in the service they perform, it is the waiters.

The waiter has been described as "the man whose face you never see," a true and perfect description in as far as most of the public is concerned. Yet the waiters do not complain, they are generally good philosophers about it.

Conceding the waiter's work is—

They go on automatically and deliver their serving on good order food to the guests who come to their tables. And the remarkable thing is that if they are largely unknown personalities to their endless guests, these waiters are not unknown to them.

They have many, many waiters who have been with us since the houses in which they are employed were opened, and every one of them knows the intimate likes and dislikes of scores of guests. They know to whom to deliver the various dishes for fish or meat, they remember the no-meat-on-ice have had since last year, that such a man relies more on tea or coffee and that another likes orange or his glass.

Waiters everywhere, of course, acquire the art of knowledge of their guests, but we think that in our Seattle hotels there is a little better job of it, namely a little more personal interest in their personal preferences, more a little more courtesy because of their training in the groups of Statist Service.
